Again there weren't main concerns from my end of how the page was coming along, I was pretty happy with the outcome this time as well as Everything that I wanted on the page is on the page. ie the content is all there.

I think in preparation for the next build would be that the videos should be a bit larger and also maybe the logo? I like how the site is currently switching the gray to black based on which page is selected. But I'm not sure if I like how the logo looks gray. Maybe just add a home page link instead next to the tricks and games and also leave the logo to be clickable as well? I'm not sure.

I think if you're able to turn the video audio off maybe? and have it play on auto or maybe play video on hover would be cool.
